

Case Study: Presentation and Personal Impact

An international charity contracted Silvercube to support their CEO with presentation and pitching skills.

Example: A Silvercube Presentation and Personal Impact Coach works one to one with the delegate, developing and enhancing their own natural presentation style.

With strong emphasis on tone of voice, body language and content the coach is able to guide the delegate through the process of delivering an effective presentation which will get results.

Result: The CEO now delivers confident presentations to potential sponsors and donors, which are more impactful and emotive. As a result the charity will be able to secure more major corporate partnerships for the future
